Dear Neighbors:

One hundred homeless people died this year just in Minnesota. Food shelves can't satisfy demand. And some 40,000,000 persons nationwide have no health insurance. Clearly, the major terrorist threat to America is poverty. Personally, I will no longer vote for any politician who doesn't support affordable housing, living wage laws, universal, single-payer health care, and ending welfare time limits. Eradicating poverty should be our top domestic and global priority. A few coins tossed in a kettle won't stop the terror of hunger, sickness, and not having a place to live.
