

And, even more embarrassingly, the head lately surfaced in HCL's own book-catalog: on p. 218 of the 4th Supplement. So that lightly-dismissed "furor over sexist semantics" is justified after all. Resuscitating the cheerfully-rendered advice triggered by Peattie's remarks, we have, in the interim between typing that page and this, dutifully and demotically recast COLLEGE FRESHMEN into COLLEGE FROSH, with the bevy of cross-references shown in the next section. Noel, you are due both our gratitude and contrition...

In a just-received, April 2d addendum to the "Eskimo"/Inuit discussion on p. 20-22, Tagak E. C. Curley, President of the Inuit Tapirisat of Canada confirms "that there is strong preference in the usage of the word 'Inuit' as opposed to 'Eskimos' by my people." He continues: "I might further clarify that when referring to an individual the word 'Inuk' is used, two people 'Inuuk' and 'inuit' refers to all the people. I trust the above will serve as necessary support towards implementation of the word 'Inuit' into your catalogues." It does, indeed. And now the "burden of proof" rests with all libraries and scheme-makers still clinging to the demonstrably non-indigenous and undesirable term, "Eskimos."
